EAT TO LOWER YOUR BLOOD PRESSURE

The DASH eating plan is proven to lower blood pressure. The idea is simple: more of the foods below on the left, less of the ones on the right.

ENJOY MORE

- Vegetables and fruit (fresh or frozen)
- Whole grains: oats, brown rice, whole bread
- Beans, lentils, unsalted nuts and seeds
- Fish, skinless poultry, eggs
- Low-fat or fat-free milk and yogurt
- Herbs, spices, lemon, garlic (instead of salt)

LIMIT

- Salt and very salty foods
- Processed and cured meats (bacon, ham, sausage)
- Canned soups, sauces, ready meals, broth
- Salty snacks: chips, crackers, pretzels
- Full-fat and fried foods
- Sweets and sugary drinks

Aim for less than 2,300 mg of sodium a day.

Getting down to about 1,500 mg a day lowers blood pressure even more. Read food labels and pick low-salt or no-salt-added options.

General guidance only. Ask your doctor what is right for you. Sources: American Heart Association; Mayo Clinic; Johns Hopkins Medicine.

◆ ——— SMALL CHANGES, LOWER NUMBERS ——— ◆

Beyond food, these habits lower blood pressure on their own. The drop shown is the typical fall in the top number (systolic).

Change	Typical drop
Follow the DASH eating plan	about 11 mmHg
Cut back on salt	about 5 mmHg
Move more: brisk walk 30 min, most days	about 5 mmHg
Lose extra weight	about 1 mmHg per kg
Limit alcohol (if you drink)	about 4 mmHg
Don't smoke, sleep well, ease stress	supports them all

Together, these changes can lower blood pressure by 10 to 20 mmHg. Make changes with your doctor, and never stop medication on your own.

Typical figures from the AHA/ACC 2025 guideline and Johns Hopkins Medicine.

MY BLOOD PRESSURE TREND

Put a dot for your morning top number (systolic) each day, then join the dots. Seeing the line over weeks tells you more than any single day.
